DETAILED ACTION

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action or the MPEP.

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: The "Cross-Reference to Related Applications" section should be updated to include the new patent number. Appropriate correction is required.

Information Disclosure Statement

Note is again made of applicant's IDS of August 23, 2005 containing the later dated references. The subject matter of the present application is disclosed in applicant's earlier patent, 6,148,232 filed November 9, 1998. U.S. Provisional Patent Application 60/150,636 was filed August 25, 1999. These references were also considered in prior patent application 10/771,909.

Double Patenting

Claims 112-117 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-20 of U.S. Patent No. 6,708,060. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because each set of claims is directed to an electrode device for ablating the stratum corneum epidermis of the body.

Claims 112-117 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-27, 29-36 of U.S. Patent No. 6,148,232. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because each set of claims is directed to an electrode device for ablating the stratum corneum epidermis of the body.

Claims 112-117 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-44 of U.S. Patent No. 6,711,435. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because each set of claims is directed to an electrode device for ablating the stratum corneum epidermis of the body.

Claims 112-117 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-15 of U.S. Patent No. 7,062,317. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because each set of claims is directed to an electrode device for ablating the stratum corneum epidermis of the body.

Claims 112-117 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-15 of U.S. Patent No. 6,611,706. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because each set of claims is directed to an electrode device for ablating the stratum corneum epidermis of the body.

Claims 112-117 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-4 of U.S. Patent No. 6,597,946.

Art Unit: 1615

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because each set of claims is directed to an electrode device for ablating the stratum corneum epidermis of the body.

Claims 112-117 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-15, 17, 20, 24-29, 31-42, 46-74, 77-86, 124-126 of copending Application No. 10/461,897. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because each set of claims is directed to an electrode device for ablating the stratum corneum epidermis of the body.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claims 112-117 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 95-106 of copending Application No. 10/771,909. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because each set of claims is directed to an electrode device for ablating the stratum corneum epidermis of the body.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 112-117 would be allowed if terminal disclaimers as set forth above were filed.

Art Unit: 1615

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: Note is made of the extensive prosecution histories of the parent applications. Of relevance is the patent to Jacques et al., US 4,775,361 and the Eggers' patents, discussed previously.
